Freight train leaves Bristol, 1:10 A. M.

Freight train arrives in Bristol, 5:40 A. M. and 8:30 P. M.
Distance 130 miles; Fare 5 cents, per mile.
25 minutes allowed for meals in Bristol.
Time, being 30 minutes slower than Va. time, the apparent want of connection between the above schedules is explained.

A change of schedule on the Va.
Road was made, to take effect on Monday last. It will be seen that it effects only the freight trains, and that change is a very slight one.

Lighted.—The Goodson side of our town is now lighted through the enterprise of our Mayor, Mr. P. Rohr. Our town now presents quite an inviting appearance after dark.

Concert.—We learn that the young ladies of the Presbyterian Church intend giving a grand concert soon, the proceeds of which are to be set apart for the purchase of a fine cabinet organ, which they design placing in that church. They have secured the services of several talented ladies from a distance as well as some of the best performers in Bristol. The Presbyterian congregation is a large one and the other congregations are liberal, and while we assure our readers of a musical treat, we feel safe in predicting a full attendance and success for the ladies.

A Good Chance is offered to some enterprising gentleman who may have a small capital. See the advertisement signed "Enterprise" in another column of this paper. The party proposing has both means and experience. Petersburg is in the right direction and the right gentleman from this section could command a large business.

Attention is called to the card of Jas.
Marshall & Co., Grocers and Gen. Merchants, Petersburg, Va. Mr. H. C.
Barr is with them and assures his friends and acquaintances in South Western Virginia and East Tennessee of the high character of the house. We are glad to see our merchants looking in that direction.

Coal for the coming Cold Weather can be had by applying to L.
C. Fowler, who is Agent for the Knoxville Iron Co. The price of this great luxury will be reduced so that every one in our town can now afford to purchase. This is the finest coal in the world, and it really does away with the great trouble of fuel. It is vastly cheaper than wood. There is no odor of gas in connection with its use. It blazes like pine faggots, and will save a large amount of money to our people.

Warning.—It is astonishing that parents will permit their children to visit the depot at the arrival and departure of the trains. The boys of our town actually flock there in great numbers, and they are so much in danger of being killed or maimed by the movements of the cars and engines, that we have been appealed to by the courteous officials of the road to call attention to the matter. Recently we saw a boy place his foot on the track to show how close he could allow the engine to come to him without injuring him. Not knowing whose boy it was we took the liberty of ejecting him rather roughly from his dangerous position. It is hoped the proper persons will keep these boys away and at home, where their persons and morals will be better cared for.

Man Killed.—The Eastern bound freight train on the East Tennessee and Virginia Railroad ran over and killed George Campbell, a brakeman, on Wednesday night last, when a short distance East of Johnson's Depot. It is supposed that Campbell attempted to jump from one car to another when he slipped and fell between and was instantly killed.

How a Parson Lost his Bride.—That our friend, Parson John, was fond of the women is proven by the fact that he was three times married and three times left alone in the world. At the age of seventy the Parson thought it was not good for him to be alone in the world, for he had read so much in his Bible and believed it. Accordingly he courted the widow K. in the county of Sullivan, and the widow, who had lived but three-score years and had sons and daughters grown, agreed with Parson John that it was not good to be alone. But the sons and daughters said it could not be so, while the Parson and the widow said it was so. The Parson and the widow were married a few days since, and in about ten minutes after they were pronounced man and wife an invincible force of the widow stepped in and inforthe Parson that he would give him just five minutes in which to measure the road between the widow's and the Parson's home. The Parson sprang for a horse, the widow screamed, the visitors started while the son, by putting his gun in order, gave evidence of a cool head. Now the Parson being somewhat pressed for time prepared to ride without a saddle and as he rode over a dark and rocky road he chose to have himself announced by the barking of all the dogs in the country. He had proceeded about a mile when he thought, (for the Parson is a thoughtful man,) he heard the widow's son in close pursuit and determined to ambuscade him.

He turned quickly into a neighbor's barn-yard, who bore the euphonious name of Panther. Panther was on the watch, as it was known there were horse thieves in the country, and cried "stop thief!" "Hush!" said the Parson, "talk low, they are after me."
"Hold I stand!" bang—and here a ball went whizzing past the Parson's head.
Soldier-like, he cut loose his hat and made a hasty retreat. On, on, over bank, bush and bog, with hair streaming to the wind, went our friend the Parson, till he reached the Lyon's den where another ball was sent whizzing past his head, another step thief, and all the dogs within forty miles set to barking. On, still on he went, faster and faster, amid the cry of stop thief, the barking of dogs, the whistling of ride-halls and buckshot about his head, through muddy creeks and over rocky hills until heated and exhausted, hatless and bootless he found quiet in that rugged mountain range that skirts the county of Sullivan. Here he wandered for hours in the belief that the wil-dow's son was after him. Late next day the parson reached his home with the loss of his entire traveling wardrobe.
There he received the news "All is quiet along the Potomac" and ventured after a rearrangement of his toilet to visit the scene of his late discomfiture, where he was kindly received and soon "all was as merry as a marriage bell."

We saw the Parson in town a few days since and he was looking as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

GEN. FORREST cannot endure the idea of quietly subsidizing like the illustrious Lee. He must publish to the world that there are 40,000 K. K. K.'s in Tenn. That masterly piece of his strategy unlatched the dead lock of the two Houses at Nashville, and placed in Brownlow's hands the militia and Ku-Klux bills.

Solution and Infanticide.—On Monday last a man by the name of Ewing and another named Seals were arrested at Union, Sullivan county Tennessee, under the following circumstances. On Monday morning a physician was called to see a Miss Acres, when it was found that she had been delivered of a child. She stated that she had been seduced by Ewing, and when found to be pregnant, Ewing got Seals to furnish her with drugs intended to produce abortion. Seals wrote her several letters enclosing the drugs which failed to accomplish the purpose intended. On Sunday night Ewing came and brought Seals with him, when he went into the yard, where they delivered her of a child, which was given to Seals, and as she thence became very sick she went into the house and saw no more of them or the child. Upon this information Ewing and Seals were arrested and search made for the child which was found under the house in which Miss Acres was staying, with its throat cut and several stab wounds on the body.
Ewing and Seals are now on trial before Justice of the Peace and are likely to be sent on.

Mr. L. H. Royan has for sale at Buckner's a good thing, which we must commend to our readers. The White Wire Clothes Line is quite a success, and supplies a want long felt. The ladies who read the "News" will have the good taste to appreciate it. We are sure.
It cannot be loaded with clothes heavy enough to break it—1500 pounds bearing its breaking weight.

It does not in any way discolor, wear, or injure clothes that are hung upon it, and they never freeze to it. The finest fabrics can be removed instantly in the coldest weather without injury. This is a decided advantage over the rope line.

Preaching.—The Rev. E. H. Ingel will preach in Emmanuel church, Goodson, on Sunday next at 11 o'clock A. M.

Voting on the Train.—A friend was a few days since a lean looking Yankee thought he would take the vote on the East Tennessee and Virginia train, when near Lanesburg Depot. When he reached our friend he had 19 for Grant, as soon as back with a face blue than New England milk, bearing on his ear 20 votes for Grant and 89 for Seymour.

Post Office Discontinued.—The office at Good Station, West county has been discontinued. The mails are to be sent to Wise Court House.

Robbery.—We are informed that three men named Martin, Perry and Roller have been arrested below Hantville, charged with robbing an old man, who was wandering about the country, of some $800. Roller has since escaped.

Norfolk Convention.—At a meeting of the citizens of Bristol-Goodson, a large number of delegates was appointed to the Convention to be held in Norfolk on the 14th of October. As there will be about 2000 delegates, the eating houses along the route will not be able to accommodate all. We therefore suggest that parties going preparing themselves with catfish before starting.

Louisville Journal.—We welcome the Louisville Daily Journal to our table.
This is one of the largest and best papers in the country and now contains twenty eight columns of reading matter.
It is mailed to subscribers at 88 per annum.

We learn that Capt. I. C. Willis, of Hawkins county, who shot and killed Wm. Sizemore, a Rogersville, about a year ago, was killed on Sunday evening last, by a man named Burch. We have heard no particulars of the affair.—Morrison's Gazette.

Judge Conely P. Trigg is now spending a few days in our town, and is looking exceedingly well. His many friends will be glad to see him. He is stopping at the Thomas House.

DIED.
PENDLETON.—At his residence, Port Branch, near Fackburg Va., on the morning of the 14th inst., of Typhoid Fever, Mrs. Elvina, wife of Col. A. G. Pendleton, aged perhaps about 55 years.
The Editors of the News have been long acquainted with her deceased, and desire to tender a passing tribute to her high character and many virtues. The writer can trace his recollection of her kindness and generous hospitality as far back as the year 1839 or '40, and when upon a recent occasion it was his good fortune to come in social contact with her for the last time, he found a character beautiful and rendered loftier by the trials of time, and a heart rendered stronger in its effusions by the frailties it had met, and the disappointments it had suffered. We treasure in our bosom to day the bitter alternative of sorrow for a soul that departed and bore through all the changes of life a friendship for us and those we have known to love. Mrs.
Pendleton was a lady whose attachments were not hastily formed, and they were rarely abandoned. She disclaimed last va-rior called popularity, as but the creature of deception. Her character was the strong and enduring good of years. As it was gradually developed it cast its genial influence upon other hearts, and thus its virtues have been appreciated beyond that and hour on Saturday morning last, when in the triumph of the faith which sustains the child of God, she consented to that last triumphant and left Port Branch for the Heavenly world.
